

Real World Performance Tour, Sofia, Feb 21st 2014

The Bulgarian Oracle Users Group, with the support of the Independent Oracle User Group (IOUG) and the partnership of the Romanian Oracle Users Group, is organizing a one day seminar in Sofia.

The seminar is part of the Real World Performance Tour 2014 and it will be held in Sofia Event Center on 21st of February, 2014.

The speakers:

- Tom Kyte, Senior Technical Architect ORACLE Server Technology Division
- Graham Wood, Architect Server Technologies
- Andrew Holdsworth, Vice President Real World Performance Server Technologies

In this one-day interactive training event, the three gurus improvise about best practices for designing hardware architecture, deploying Oracle databases and developing applications that deliver the fastest possible performance. The topics to be covered include but are not limited to:

- Focus on performance of Oracle tools
- What are you doing wrong?
- What are you doing right?
- Demos are real / live through VPN
- Avoid getting in a situation "it's good enough"
- How to use the available Oracle stack

The event is open to everyone involved with Oracle technologies, especially for

- DBAs
- System Architects
- IT managements
- Oracle & System Integrators
- PL/SQL or Java developers
